

To Whom It May Concern,

I think it's a shame that this issue is even suggested. I feel and I'm sure many other people feel the same, is that regular radio stinks. I won't go into the issues of music but listening to the same ole dumb commercials all day long and by not satisfying my needs for music I decided on my own (nobody twisted my arm ) To purchase XM Satelite radio. I realize that radio stations make their money by running commercials and thats all fine. But I feel that I have the right to make a choice on what I want to listen to. They make their money from commercials and satelite radio makes their money from people like me who decided on their own to pay for something that they want. So I guess the big issue is, what the heck does listening to the news or weather traffic on my satelite radio hurt . Each station has it's way of playing news traffic and music and nobody cuts each others throat on that. I Pay for my radio service and feel that nobody should mess with my right to do so. Any poloticians that feel different although intitled to their opinion,I hope gets voted out of office. There's to many real problems in the world they should be worried about. I guess it all boils down to radio stations getting some competition and they don't like it. They should be focusing on how to make their listeners happy instead of crying because someone else makes their listeners happy. Like I said it's just a shame
